

Let My Light Shine

Prosperity Poem 70

If the only birds allowed to sing
Were the birds that sang the best
I'd find our woods a gloomy place
For I'd miss the songs of the rest

If all the plants across the world
Were those of most vibrant red
I'd ache for the varied colors
Which we now enjoy instead

And so it is with people too
We each have our inner light
My light may not be brightest
But still it dispels the night

My talents, gifts, and powers
Bring increased life to all I know
I'll always let my light shine forth
So prosperity to all will flow
